"To strive, to seek and not to yield" the ever undying rejuvenating thought and quest of knowledge in the words of Alfred Lord Tennyson; the 14th century English Poet is the silent song which still continues to vibrate in the young and impressionable minds of the young cadets of Sainik School Punglwa- "The Pride of Nagaland" and the "Heritage of India".

Here in our family of beautiful Sainik School Punglwa, the cadets are trained physically and mentally to join the Defence Forces which is one of the primary aim of the school. The hectic schedule from dawn to dusk makes cadets to sweat in pride and expectancy in the second coming of an undisputed leader which is to be born in each one of them. With the world steadily progressing every tick tock, 'Dare to be Different' is the only watch word and dream of every aspirant growing cadets in the vale of the beautiful Punglwa. The quest for truth and justice, the passion to excel, fight for glory, the unwavering spirit in the journey of all odds and obstacles keeps the Punglwians alive, stronger and ever growing. The cadets out here are exposed to varied opportunities both outside and within the campus where their skills and abilities are honed and put to test. Yet, in the midst of the stressful environment of activities, there is always a beautiful success story behind to hear over and over again. The annual 'Vibrant Strings' - a magazine especially for the young ignited minds is one of the channels where the cadets pen down their innocence - their knowledge; a gift to inspire for an awakening change; at the same time the magazine also highlights the schools achievements in travelling the distance - the road that is seldom trodden upon. The tears and the laughs is what we as human are all accustomed to and it is where we come together as one; shedding our indifferences on the altar of oneness. With this in light, the magazine seeks to find a place in every heart where the sweet memories and achievements of the school continue to vibrate on. The editorial team extends heartfelt love and gratitude to all those who stood by us in making this magazine a success.

Happy reading.....

MESSAGE

I am happy to learn that the Sainik School Punglwa is bringing out another issue of its Annual Magazine "Vibrant Strings".

Needless to say that it is not only competent teaching faculties and books which mould and shape the lives of young people, but the spaces, the environment and the culture prevailing in an institution also influence the sensitive young minds.

I am confident that the "VIBRANT STRINGS" as the name suggests, will continue to reflect the unlimited progressive spirit to forge ahead accompanied with untiring efforts of the staff and students in leading the institution on the path of progress.

I convey my best wishes to the staff and cadets in their quest for the betterment of the school and also wish the magazine a success.

MESSAGE

I am happy to learn that Sainik School Punglwa is publishing the annual issue of its school magazine " VIBRANT STRING " for the session 2015-16.

The School magazine is an apt platform for students to express their views and practice the art of creative writing. It also gives a kaleidoscopic view of the multifarious activities during the proceeding academic session.

Sainik School Punglwa has been the pride of Nagaland. It has indeed been an arduous long felt dream of the people of Nagaland to bring Public School education within the reach of common populace of Nagaland, where quality education and all round development is provided to the children of the State. At this school the youngsters are trained physically and mentally to join the Armed Forces of our country and to defend the nation.

It is heartening to note that with dedicated administration and a well knit team of devoted staff, the School has fared well in academics, co-curricular and extra-curricular activities.

I am sure that the school will progress further in leaps and bounds and continue to be a proud educational institution. I wish the Principal, Officers, Staff and Cadets a very successful year ahead. May the Nagaland chapter bring more & more success and achievement to share at the National level.

1. I am very glad to know that Sainik School Punglwa is bringing out another enthralling and educating annual journal 'Vibrant Strings' 2015-16. I am proud to note that, the school is making a positive progress and impact in delivering quality education in all spheres.
2. I am satisfied to note that the magazine has provided an apt platform to the young cadets to put forth their talents in whole spectrum of activities.
3. Since inception, the school has made all round progress, may it be in academics, infrastructure and other co-curricular activities. I expect this journey to continue till the school shines at pinnacle. It is indeed a matter of pride for the school for having achieved 100% results in class X with two cadets scoring 10 CGPA. Besides, the school also holds an achievements as being one amongst the two Sainik Schools for having presented its science project at CBSE National Level Science Exhibition 2016.
4. In the present world, education determines limitless future of a youth that contributes to the state and nation. I am sure, in the time to come, the school through its focus approach shall make mark in achieving its objective - NDA and bring laurels to the state of Nagaland.
5. I convey best wishes to the Principal and editorial team for the successful publication of school's annual magazine.

I am pleased to know that Sainik School, Punglwa is bringing out its Annual Magazine entitles "Vibrant Strings" shortly.

Looking back on the collective achievements of Sainik Schools in the country, there is no gain saying that its precincts have proven to be an ideal training ground for moulding and shaping up of well disciplined and soundly tutored young minds. The biggest challenges posing Sainik School, Punglwa will, therefore, be the need for measuring upto the high expectations and also upholding the true traditions set by Sainik Schools in the country.

I am sure that the editorial board, along with the support of the officers, and the contributions from the enthusiastic cadets, will bring forth an inspirational edition of the "Vibrant String", which I hope will be a readers' delight.

I wish the Principal and Editorial Board all the success.

I am delight to learn that Sainik School, Punglwa is publishing next issue of its annual school magazine entitles "Vibrant Strings".

A school magazine is a vital document that helps surface the latent talent of its students and enhances their communicative abilities and self-confidence. It also provides opportunity to the students to reflect their aspirations and imaginative skills.

Sainik School, Punglwa, since its inception in 2007, has been playing an important role not only by preparing its students to join the Armed Forces but is also enabling its students to achieve equally respectful positions in the civil society.

I wish Principal and staff a very bright future ahead.

I am happy to know that 10th edition of "Vibrant Strings", the annual School Magazine of Sainik School Punglwa is taking its shape.

It is a matter of great satisfaction that the school has been preparing hard for their maiden attempt to join the National Defence Academy. I am please to know that there are many forerunners in this regard, whom the junior cadets can emulate.

Pursuit of academic excellence combined with co-curricular and extra co-curricular activities make for a whole some process of education. With the necessary infrastructure slowly yet gradually improving to meet the requirement, I believe excellence in academics will also follow suit.

On this occasion, I convey my best wishes to the Principal, staff and the cadets in their endeavours.

I am happy to know that Sainik School Punglwa is publishing its next issue of School Journal "Vibrant Strings" for the session 2015-16.

Sainik School Punglwa is operating in highly challenging environment. The school authorities and staff have onerous responsibility to make the cadet focus of their attention despite the odds.

Though in its nascent stage the school is shaping up well to become a premier educational institute in the region. It is heartening to know that State Government is providing every possible support of the school for development of training infrastructure as well as living conditions of staff and cadets. I am sure that the school will bring out the best in all the cadet by providing them opportunities for their scholastic and co-scholastic growth.

On this occasion I convey my good wishes to all members of school fraternity in their endeavors.

Jai Hind!
